PHOTOSHOP SOUP2NUTS CONFERENCE OFFERS ONE-ON-ONE PORTFOLIO REVIEWS WITH LEADING DIGITAL IMAGING EXPERTS

The Fourth Annual Photoshop Soup2Nuts 2006 Conference is returning to Ann Arbor on June 23 and 24, at Washtenaw Community College.

Filled with the exceptional experience and participation of many internationally renowned names in digital imaging such as Bruce Fraser, Ben Willmore, Seth Resnick, Jeff Schewe, Scott Kelby, Carl Sams, Michael Britt, Marc Pawliger, Lynda Angelastro, Renee Pearson, Terry White, Dale Fisher and Photoshop creator, Thomas Knoll.

Andrah Foundations' Photoshop Soup2nuts conference is a two-day digital imaging conference appropriate for all levels of collegiate student, faculty or professionals in graphic design, videography, 3D animation and the arts.

The Portfolio Review, sponsored by Rainbow Cleaning Systems, provides both students and professionals the unique opportunity to meet with the Photoshop Soup2Nuts presenters one-on-one for a 15-minute session.

Rainbow will launch their newly created college-recruiting program at the Photoshop Soup2Nuts conference in June. They are looking for bright, talented college students to work with the company. Recruiters will be available at the Booth #31 to speak with interested college students and answer questions regarding Rainbow and the recruitment program.

The entrance fee to the Exhibitor's Hall is $25 per person.

Registration is taken online at www.photoshopsoup2nuts.org or by calling 1-888-600-soup (7687)
